

Myths and Realities:

A series of public debates

and Myths

Is class still relevant – are some more equal than others?

Monday 1st November 2010, 6.30 – 8.00pm
(followed by pay bar) Tickets £6, £4 concessions

Does class still play a major role in shaping our lives, our opportunities and chances or have other factors become more important? This event will look at factors which shape our identities and lives and ask how important is class?

- Chair: David Walker, Managing Director, Communications and Public Reporting, Audit Commission
- Professor Fiona Devine, Head of School of Social Sciences, University of Manchester
- Professor John Hills, Director, Centre for the Analysis of Social Exclusion, LSE
- Lee Elliot Major, Research Director, Sutton Trust

Book your place via the British Library's website:
www.bl.uk/whatson or for more information contact:
social-sciences-events@bl.uk

This series of debates will look at significant public and social issues, challenge some of the common myths and assumptions we make, and show the role social science plays to explain what is happening and point the way to solutions.

Venue: British Library, 96 Euston Road,
London NW1 2DB

Supported by:

